

APEX LAW COLLEGE, MAKRANA

Affiliated to Dr. Bhimrao Ambedkar Law University, Jaipur
Approved by Bar Council of India, New Delhi

Scope and Career Opportunities after BA LLB Degree

A Bachelor of Arts in Law (BA LLB) degree allows the students to get their degree in Law, with the ultimate goal of starting their career as a Lawyer. One of the best things about a BA LLB degree is that it is flexible enough to accommodate those students who do not want to practice Law but would like to continue in a career that is related to Law.

BA LLB is recognized as an integrated degree course. Students acquire the skills and knowledge that are required to be legal practitioners and excellent advocates. In addition to this, the law provides students plenty of opportunities in private law firms, legal chambers, court and government agencies, and many others.

What is BA LLB Degree All About?

BA LLB program is one of the most prominent degree programs. BA LLB is a five-year law degree course. The degree is a combination of Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Laws, which are two highly different degree courses. The course is offered by the colleges affiliated with the General Council Bar of India. The degree is commonly known as BA LLB.

The BA LLB degree is designed to offer basic knowledge and train student's in all aspects of the law and arts. It prepares students for a career in law, Government and non-Government services, private practice and research or legal professional.

APEX LAW COLLEGE, MAKRANA

Affiliated to Dr. Bhimrao Ambedkar Law University, Jaipur
Approved by Bar Council of India, New Delhi

The program focuses on the learning and application of various disciplines such as communication skills, writing, and research. Moreover, the BA LLB program is a flexible study of law, which gives students a chance to take a step into something new. They get an opportunity to explore legal concepts at their best.

Want to know more about the BA LLB degree scope and job opportunities?

What is the scope of a BA LLB Degree?

BA LLB degree is the most sought-after degree for those candidates who want to pursue a career in law. The course covers the basics of both BA and LLB and is an added advantage to the students as they can pursue their careers in law or join the corporate sector with a specialization in arts as well. Hence, this degree helps you to prepare for admission to Bar Council, as well as for employment in various law-related fields.

The scope of BA LLB is vast. The BA LLB degree allows you to practice law in various parts of the world. So, BA LLB is always a good option for those who want to practice law for a living. The scope of the LLB degree is not limited to India only. The scope of the degree is to practice law on a global scale.

APEX LAW COLLEGE, MAKRANA

Affiliated to Dr. Bhimrao Ambedkar Law University, Jaipur
Approved by Bar Council of India, New Delhi

Graduates can pursue a range of diverse opportunities in both the public and private sectors after completing the degree. Students typically choose to pursue independent practice as a lawyer or advocate after finishing this degree. If you want to concentrate on a specific area of law, you can enroll in postgraduate programs such as the LLM or the PhD in Law. Later, you can discover higher-level career prospects in the corporate and commercial sector or work in the social sector with non-profit organizations.

Top Job opportunities after BA LLB Degree?

If you look around, you will find that there are a lot of opportunities for lawyers in the corporate sector. It is a good career option to get higher pay. Some of the companies have large branches of lawyers and legal experts working for them. Additionally, if you have 1-2 years of experience working in any law firm, you will have a great advantage over other people applying for career opportunities. BA LLB degree graduates in India will have several job opportunities for various sectors in today's world. In the coming future, you can find job opportunities in almost every field in any city.

There are different kinds of jobs that one can find after completing a BA LLB degree in India. The fields of work will also change based on one's specialization.

APEX LAW COLLEGE, MAKRANA

Affiliated to Dr. Bhimrao Ambedkar Law University, Jaipur
Approved by Bar Council of India, New Delhi

Here are the top 10 job opportunities for a BA LLB degree holder-

1. Legal Secretary

This is one of the common positions for a BA LLB degree holder in India. It is one of the most sought-after positions, especially if you have a law firm as your employer. The role of legal secretary's is essential for the smooth functioning of the legal system. A legal secretary needs to pay special attention to detail, have excellent communication skills and have a good grasp of legal terminology.

A Legal Secretary is an executive secretary who performs law firm support functions such as reviewing correspondence, preparing case files and conducting research. Legal Secretaries are responsible for the intake of clients and their cases. In addition, they are responsible for keeping client information and case information confidential. Specific responsibilities of legal secretaries include making appointments, screening and routing a call, taking shorthand and typing dictation, as well as filing. Some of the responsibilities of a legal secretary also include maintaining attorney calendars and drafting correspondences.

2. Law Clerk

Any person who has completed an LLB degree in India can join law firms as a law clerk. A law clerk is an assistant to a judge or a lawyer. In the United States, law clerks are called judicial clerks. A law clerk is often an attorney, and he or she may specialize in a specific area of the law (such as tax or corporate law).

APEX LAW COLLEGE, MAKRANA

Affiliated to Dr. Bhimrao Ambedkar Law University, Jaipur
Approved by Bar Council of India, New Delhi

A law clerk is a research assistant who assists a judge in the administration of justice. The job of a law clerk involves a lot of research and writing. Law clerks perform a variety of tasks, but their main responsibility is to conduct legal research and provide assistance to judges in the performance of their duties. They help the attorney draft legal documents, prepare legal pleadings, precedents, and research and write briefs, opinions and memorandums. Besides, they also need to assist the attorney during the court trials and hearings. For this, they have to abide by the attorney's instructions and directions.

3. Legal Associate/Advisor

Legal associates are legal professionals who are supervised by attorneys. A Legal Associate is a lawyer that is a part of a law firm and helps the senior lawyers with legal and other professional matters. They are trained to help in providing all the administrative and legal support that a lawyer would need so that they can concentrate on cases. They can work in different departments, including litigation, corporate, tax and real estate.

Legal Associates also work under the supervision of the firm's Partners. They also share their experience and skills with Lawyers who do not have any experience and are at the bottom of the hierarchical ladder. Legal Associates would also be able to advise the lawyer on the cases they are working on. At the same time, they would be able to analyse the importance of these cases.

APEX LAW COLLEGE, MAKRANA

Affiliated to Dr. Bhimrao Ambedkar Law University, Jaipur
Approved by Bar Council of India, New Delhi

They help lawyers by serving different clients. They also take a significant part in preparing documents, legal briefs, etc.

4. Litigation Lawyer

A litigation lawyer will be involved in various stages of a legal dispute from the beginning to the end of the proceedings. The role of a litigation lawyer is to understand what needs to be done to settle a dispute. Besides, their role will vary depending upon the area of law in which individual practice. The most important aspects of the job will include conducting research, interacting and negotiating with clients, preparing for court proceedings and presenting arguments in court before a judge.

In most cases, litigation lawyers represent clients in cases involving civil, criminal and administrative law. In some jurisdictions, a litigation lawyer may also perform the function of a public prosecutor. For example, in the state of New York, a lawyer is eligible to practice as both a public prosecutor and a private lawyer.

A litigation lawyer must be able to interpret the laws and understand how the case will be impacted by the facts and the law. They must be familiar with the relevant law; various court systems and the judges must know how to research the law and must be able to apply the law to the facts of the case. Other than that, a lawyer should keep track of every movement of the case. This is not easy if you are working with a big law firm. In addition to this, a lawyer should be skillful in writing and communication with the other party in the dispute.

APEX LAW COLLEGE, MAKRANA

Affiliated to Dr. Bhimrao Ambedkar Law University, Jaipur
Approved by Bar Council of India, New Delhi

5. Criminal Lawyer

Criminal lawyers in India are the lawyer who handles cases related to crime. In India, any person can become a criminal lawyer. But they need to register themselves under the Bar Council of India.

Criminal lawyers are those who defend clients who are accused of crimes. Their main job is to represent a person or business, which is charged with a crime in a court of law. They may also represent a defendant in a civil case, where compensation is claimed for damages. Their primary responsibility is to ensure the safety of innocent people from false accusations. There are different types of categories of criminal lawyers. The lawyer can be a junior criminal lawyer, senior criminal lawyer, criminal appeal lawyer, contract barrister and solicitor etc.

Also, they offer legal assistance to the accused person by providing counsel and defense in criminal courts. Other than that, they defend the client's rights under the law and may argue that the charges against the client should be reduced or dropped.

6. Legal Analyst

A Legal Analyst is an employee of a law firm who performs research and analysis on legal documents and cases. One is an expert in the law, who can understand and explain all the issues related to the law and its applications.

APEX LAW COLLEGE, MAKRANA

Affiliated to Dr. Bhimrao Ambedkar Law University, Jaipur
Approved by Bar Council of India, New Delhi

A legal analyst is not just restricted to analyzing legal information but also plays a key role in facilitating the day-to-day business activities. Their main objective is to understand the company's present position concerning the law and provide proposals or solutions to various legal issues. The legal analyst uses the available database and legal research tools to gather information about the company's legal obligations, analyses it and communicate the implications and potential risks to management. They also suggest and implement changes by performing research, drafting contracts and advising in policymaking.

However, in many other cases, a legal analyst acts as a liaison between the company and the law firm. It is the responsibility of the legal analyst to help the law firm to understand the client's needs and translate them into legal terms. A legal analyst evaluates the case and guides the lawyers about the risks and the way forward.

7. Company Secretary

A company secretary is an individual who is responsible for the smooth functioning of the company and is the liability holder. They are responsible to ensure legal compliance and all the administrative tasks of the company. Some of the duties and responsibilities of the company secretary include Stock exchange compliance, Corporate secretarial services, Tradeshow and exhibition management and also various other duties as per the requirement of the company.

Some of the other responsibilities include arranging of Board Meetings as well as its functions, understand the company's financial and business position as well as various factors that affect it, to manage relationships with the company's shareholders, banks and financial institutions, etc., managing the company's secretarial and administrative duties, maintaining the company's corporate records, including share registers, minutes of the meeting of the shareholders, organizing the Board of Directors meetings, Audit Committee etc. Also, handling of legal affairs and duties of the company, ensuring that all statutory obligations are fulfilled and all statutory documents are produced as and when required.

APEX LAW COLLEGE, MAKRANA

Affiliated to Dr. Bhimrao Ambedkar Law University, Jaipur
Approved by Bar Council of India, New Delhi

Company Secretary is a vital posting any company. The responsibilities of a Company secretary are many; therefore, he or she should be a very experienced and skilled individual.

8. Legal Advisor

A legal advisor is a professional who advises business transactions and transactions involving rights, contracts, and other legalities. The legal advisor is not only a legal expert but also a business an advisor who advises on legal matters that are relevant to the business transaction.

A legal advisor is responsible for protecting and enforcing clients' legal rights and interests. The role of a lawyer is to advise you on what you should do in your future steps, depending on the problem you have. They cannot make any decisions for you, but they can present you withal the pros and cons of your actions. For example, you are being sued by customer and your lawyer could help you get out of this situation by finding the proper approach to dealing with the situation. They help you understand the process of the lawsuit and they will help you prepare the quotes and documents.

APEX LAW COLLEGE, MAKRANA

Affiliated to Dr. Bhimrao Ambedkar Law University, Jaipur
Approved by Bar Council of India, New Delhi

Hence, the major role of a lawyer is to assist in matters of law, be it litigation or contracts. They also advise on the related aspects of business such as taxation, legal, labor and estate laws. They have to know the laws of the country and keep themselves updated with the latest amendments and enactments so that they can help their clients in all possible ways.

9. Judge

Judge is a very important person in the Indian Political system. Judge is a person who has been carefully selected for an appointment as a judge of a court or other similar position by the President of India. Judges help in protecting people's rights and making sure that everyone gets a fair trial. A judge must be able to maintain impartiality and not take into account any outside influences such as personal relationships, religion, race, or politics.

The roles and responsibilities of a judge are numerous. He or she is also responsible for making sure that all parties involved also maintain a high level of respect and decorum and that no one is harassed or bullied. They are responsible for making the final decision and making sure the rules of the game are being followed accurately.

In addition, a judge is mandated to uphold the law all times, but he or she is also encouraged to take into account individual circumstances as well.

10. Paralegal

APEX LAW COLLEGE, MAKRANA

Affiliated to Dr. Bhimrao Ambedkar Law University, Jaipur
Approved by Bar Council of India, New Delhi

A paralegal is a person licensed to work in the field of law. He or she is a member of the legal team who works directly with the attorneys, rather than with clients. The main responsibility of a paralegal is to help the attorney with any aspect of legal work. They may conduct research and gather information on cases, help develop legal documents such as complaints, motions, and briefs by researching relevant issues and authorities, provide assistance in legal research and writing, assist with client meetings, assist in office management activities such as scheduling, filing, and answering phones, and other tasks as assigned.

Other responsibilities include providing administrative support to attorneys and knowledge of legal coverage's and documents. They may need to take and transcribe testimony and other legal evidence. Also, they analyses evidence and make recommendations to the attorney to help him come up with the best defense for the client.

Law is a very good platform to work in any organization, as it is a gateway to a vast number of opportunities incorporate, public and private sectors. It is a good opportunity for graduates

Who want to become a part of this legal world!

So, if you feel interested and can cope with hard work then it is a good start for those who want to pursue a legal profession.